At the heart of Wasi Gate, AT85 Residences stands as a refined address, contemporary, measured, and enduring in design.

Its name draws from Astatine, the 85th element on the periodic table, a substance so rare it exists only in trace amounts on Earth.

AT85 treats rarity as a guiding principle; seen not in excess, but in precision, balance, and lasting form.

²DUBAI

A CITY BUILT
DIFFERENTLY

Dubai's position places two-thirds of the world within an eight-hour flight, fixing it at the center of global movement.

3 WASL GATE

A DISTINCT
SETTING

A community drawn with precision,
where space is measured, movement considered,
and every turn reveals a plan made to last.

WASL GATE IS A MASTER-PLANNED COMMUNITY SHAPED WITH PURPOSE

Homes, retail, and green corridors here come together to create balance, shaping a neighborhood that moves at an even pace.

Schools, parks, and communal spaces are built into the plan, giving daily life its order and ease.

Within this, AT85 stands as a calm anchor, part of the neighborhood, yet distinctly its own.

AN ADDRESS
ROOTED IN RARITY

The building holds its place against the sky,
a veil of patterned metal catches the light in scattered glints.

MEASURED FORM

Off-white stone panels stretch in calm planes, lined with fine veining.

Vertical bands of warm wood rise between the glass, drawing the eye upward.

The glazing runs full height, clear and steady. Everything settles into balance.

BENEATH THE SURFACE

The entrance draws the eye downward before leading you in. A long, linear pool runs along the base, its still water set against dark stone.

Soft lighting slides beneath the canopy, tracing the meeting line of wood and stone.

The glow is gentle, inviting pause, reflection, and calm transition.

THE INNER FRAME

At the heart of AT85 lies a quiet courtyard. A circular pool anchors the space, its stepped edge clean against still water.

Benches nestle among layered greenery — flowering trees, clipped hedges, soft ground cover.

From above, balconies frame the courtyard in a quiet embrace.

LINES AND SURFACES

Inside, the building speaks through material and restraint. Calacatta Borghini runs cool and pale across the walls.

Fior di Bosco settles below, darker, grounding the composition. Bronze cladding edges the form, catching light in thin, precise lines.

Each material carries its own tone, yet together they form a single, lasting language, one of balance and permanence.

5 LOBBY

A CONSIDERED
ARRIVAL

The lobby gathers everything the exterior suggests; precision, calm, and depth.

Marble floors veined in soft lines reflect subtle light.

Pale wood panels rise in smooth continuity, while lighting folds quietly into the edges.

A single sculpted counter anchors the room, holding the stillness around it.
